DON'T DRESS FOR DINNER

Our next production is at the Seckford Theatre from:-

Wednesday 23rd to Saturday 26th September, nightly at 7.30pm

It's a farce written by Marc Camoletti. Rehearsals are well advanced and going well. It's a very funny, fast moving production. A brief description of the story. Bernard is planning a cosy weekend with his mistress. He's booked a cordon bleu cook and his best friend Robert will provide the perfect alibi. There's one slight problem – his wife! Destined to spend the weekend at her mothers, Jacqueline cancels the trip at the last minute throwing Bernard's plans into complete disarray. Faced with impending disaster, Bernard resorts to desperate measures to hide his wayward love-life. It's an evening filled with mistaken identities, bribery and deception as plans go disastrously awry with hilarious consequences. Tickets can be booked:-

TWELFTH NIGHT

We are pleased to announce that we have chosen "Twelfth Night" by William Shakespeare for our May 2010 production.

It's a well known comedy and will be the first time that the society has produced a Shakespeare play.

Beryl Sabel is directing and audition dates will be announced very soon.

BAR-B-QUE

A fantastic attendance for the bar-b-que on Sun 2nd August. We had our own private island off Bawdsey, the sun shone and the tide was going out. Thanks to Neill for organising, providing the bar-b-que and ferrying people to and from in his landing craft. A definite must for next year.
